WOMAN, 2 CHILDREN DIE IN CANTON FIRE

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O., April 24—A 35-year-old mother and two daughters died today when fire swept their frame home five miles west of here.

The woman's husband and five other children were saved in the blaze on the Canton-Massillon road.

Dead were Mrs. Maggie Capuano, Betty, 17, and Lena, 15.

Neighbors and members of the Perry township fire department helped bring the woman's husband, Louis, 44, and the other children to safety.

A two-year-old baby was dropped to waiting arms from a second-story window and several members of the family were taken off the roof by ladders.

Firemen said the blaze apparently started in a kitchen. Mrs. Capuano's body was found in one bedroom and one of the daughters in another. The third victim was discovered in the bathroom.

TAX, DEBT CUT SEEN POSSIBLE

Former Treasury Official Supports G. O. P. Budget-Slashing Program.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 24—John W. Hanes, former undersecretary of the treasury, said today the nation could have both tax reduction and debt reduction if congress proceeds with its "present plan" of slashing President Truman's 1948 budget.

He urged, in a statement prepared for the senate finance committee, that the income tax reduction bill already passed by the house be enacted speedily.

Hanes was one of the first advocates of an income tax cut invited to testify before the committee which has devoted two days to hearing government officials criticize the bill.

Another Witness Called

Another witness called today is Levi Smith, Burlington, Vt., banker.

Hanes told the committee:

"The general feeling that the (federal) debt must be reduced during this period of prosperous business is most wholesome. I heartily agree. But to attempt to pay off debt without relieving the taxpayer of at least a part of his excessive tax burden is wrong. It will defeat the very purpose we are trying to achieve."

Hanes startled capital tax experts April 9 when he predicted in a letter to the finance committee that the government would find itself with a surplus of $3,000,000,000 to $4,000,000,000 at the close of the current fiscal year.

Notes Estimated

He referred to his estimates today and noted they varied sharply from official estimates. He recalled that in January the President predicted a $2,300,000,000 deficit by June 30; that Secretary of the Treasury Snyder was "equally pessimistic but has gradually uped his figures," and on Tuesday "conceded" that a "surplus of $1,250,000,000 was in prospect."

Arguing that the tax cut provided in the house bill will not be inflationary, Hanes said:

"It is true that people will have more to spend if their taxes are cut. On the other hand, the government will have less to spend by the same amount. • • • People will be spending their own money, for a change, instead of having the government spend it for them."

Endorsing proposed reductions in the bill—ranging from 10 to 30 per cent—Hanes said the measure should be considered as one providing needed relief but not as a permanent revenue bill, which could be worked out in a "thorough-going revision of our entire tax system."

Price-Cutting City Asks Others To Join Drive

By The Associated Press

NEWBURYPORT, Mass., April 24—Mayor John M. Kelleher today challenged other cities which are adopting a "wait and see" attitude to join in now on the down-the-line price-cutting experiment inaugurated here.

"We can't do it alone," he asserted. "It must be a combined effort. There is just one way to reduce prices and that is to reduce them. If the 'minute men' of Concord and Lexington had waited for reactions this country might never have been an independent nation."

The 53-year-old mayor of this port city of 15,000 struck back vigorously at any suggestion the 10-day 10 per cent price slashing by Newburyport merchants was a "stunt."

"We just took it upon ourselves to do something about the high price level that is slowly strangling business." • • •

REPORT BIG FOUR MOSCOW PARLEY OVER

Radio Broadcast Says Next Meeting Set for November in London.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, April 24—Moscow radio broadcast a report tonight that the Big Four foreign ministers council meeting had ended and that the next meeting would take place in London.

The broadcast, recorded by the Soviet monitor, said the meeting ended at 7:35 p. m. (11:35 a. m., eastern standard time). It said the ministers would reconvene in November.

Marshall To Leave

Secretary of State Marshall is expected to leave Moscow Friday morning by air and reach Washington late Saturday, the state department said today, at Washington.

Lincoln White, press officer for the state department, told reporters that Marshall will fly home by way of Paris.

While said the department has no specific information on who is returning with the secretary. He said it is assumed Marshall will return in the same special C-54 transport plane in which he and a group of advisors went to Moscow in early March.

Radio Report Hinted

Marshall was reported to be planning a formal radio report to the American people concerning the meeting as soon as he returns home. His speech, informants said, probably would review his policies here, assess the failures and the few accomplishments list and outline the course for the future, particularly as it concerns U. S.-Soviet relations.

At last night's session, at which Marshall declared that if an Austrian peace treaty remains uncompleted in September the United States would favor tossing the question into the lap of the United Nations, the ministers finally disposed of many long-debated issues blocking agreement on a peace treaty for Germany.

FEAR BRITISH STORM FATAL TO 50 SAILORS

By The Associated Press

LONDON, April 24—Fifty seamen were feared dead today in a storm that swept three ships onto Britain's rocky coasts and brought distress calls from vessels fighting mountainous seas on three sides of the isle.

The 7,000-ton British tanker Samtampa smashed into rocks off Portheawl, Wales, and the British Press association said her crew of 42 was believed lost. Eight liftboat men perished trying to rescue them.

The 31,000-ton British battleship Warspite, veteran of two wars, was breaking up on the Cornish coast near Penzance and coast guardsmen said it would be impossible to refloat. Her crew of eight salvage workmen, who had been taking her to the junk heap, was saved.

The 275-ton trawler Benghazi went aground on tiny Fladda island, in the Firth of Lorne off northwest Scotland, but her 14 crewmen were reported to have landed safely on a nearby island after escaping in a small boat.

The storm, with gusts up to 100 miles an hour, tossed huge waves over the promenades at coastal towns on the English channel and the north and Irish seas.

Isaly Union Rejects Contract Proposal

The Isaly Dairy Unit of Local 750, UAW (CIO) rejected a contract settlement offered by the Isaly Dairy Co. and the union's executive committee when it met in Steel Workers' hall on East Center street last night.

The vote was unanimous, according to Edward Duck, international representative of the UAW. Thirty-three of the 36 members of the union were present.

Main objections to the contract, Mr. Duck said, were that pay rates were lower than the union members requested and no provisions were made for retroactive pay increases. The union seeks retroactive pay increases to Feb. 11.

Another meeting between the company management and the union's executive committee is scheduled for tonight in the company's offices.

The union has authorized its executive committee to call a strike unless a contract settlement is reached by May 2, Mr. Duck said.

BRITAIN BANS FUEL USE

LONDON, April 24 — Britain banned the use of electricity and gas for heating homes from May 5 to Oct. 1 in a drastic order today designed to prevent any new shutdown of the nation's fuel-short industries.

Construction Industry Senses Beginning of "Buyers' Strike"

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 24—New houses stand empty and unsold in many sections . . . plans for additional building are deferred . . . mortgage lenders trim their appraisals.

Analysts of the construction industry agreed today these conditions signal the arrival of a "buyers' strike" against high costs and that only the elimination or reduction of many high-price factors will permit the hoped-for boom in building to get under way.

Some softening of prices of building materials already is reported, as supplies overtake production.

30 Per Cent Cut Possible

George W. Warnecke, New York building financier, said he believed that cooperation of industry and labor in an attack on cost factors could effect a 30 per cent reduction in the present price for construction.

He anticipates a duration of six months in the current slump in new building.

The national committee on housing, voluntary organization devoted to problems of housing and community planning, in its annual report this week described the situation this way:

"Sales housing is being priced out of its market. The $10,000 or $12,000 house is too expensive for veterans and others of modest means, and too small to suit the family that can afford that price. • • • Builders fear to build rental units at today's costs when those same units may have to compete five years from now with new units built at lower cost."

Aside from the housing field, postponements are reported in a number of industrial construction programs, both large and small.

A major syndicate of investors expressed belief that "there will be no abrupt building stoppage, as after World War I."

Buying Power Stronger

"Buying power is stronger now," it said. "People have more savings. They simply have stopped paying $12,000 for a $6,000 house, built of inferior materials."

Lumber is receding from its high levels as supplies increase. "Yards are again soliciting business," one observer said, with prices in the New York area $15 to $20 a thousand below the levels of two weeks ago for some grades. Hardwood flooring quotations were reported around $235-250 a thousand compared with $325-$400 paid under "black market" conditions.

Notable exceptions to the easing of prices are plumbing fixtures, cast iron and soil pipe and finished hardware. Brick is piling up in many yards for lack of buyers while ample supplies of block and trim work also were reported.

SILVER STREET WORK OKAYED

CPA Approves Remodeling Project for Grade School Building.

Approval by CPA for remodeling the Silver Street school was announced last night in a special meeting of the Marion board of education held in the school administration building on South Prospect street.

E. E. Holt, Marion superintendent of schools, said today the architect, Charles Oborn of Marion, would proceed immediately with detailed plans and specifications so that bids on the $130,000 project can be taken. He said the board hopes to complete the project this summer if present plans materialize.

The project calls for the remodeling of the school and for the construction of a community room.

Other Action Taken

Several other steps were taken by the school board last night to get under way plans for the city's school building program. Board members instructed McLaughlin and Kiel, Lima architects, previously employed to make preliminary surveys for the junior and senior high school building programs, to proceed immediately with their preliminary studies. The board's action follows a recommendation of the Marion Civic Planning association and agreed upon by the board at its last meeting April 7.

Bids on 500 light fixtures and 2,000 fluorescent tubes for several of the school buildings were received by the board, but no bids will be awarded until they are studied further, Mr. Holt said. The lighting fixtures will be placed in all elementary school buildings with the exception of Oak Street and George Washington, which already are properly lighted. They also will be installed in Vernon Heights Junior High school and in the rear building of Central Junior High school.

List of Bids

Bids were submitted by six companies. Names of the companies and their bids are as follows:

United Electric Co. of Marion, three bids, $43.25; $40.72 and $39.42, including fixtures with fluorescent tubes.

A. B. Creasap Electric Co. of Marion, $43.24, including fixtures with fluorescent tubes.

Triple Service Co. of Marion, $40.60, including fixtures with fluorescent tubes.

Allen Electric Co. of Cleveland, two bids, $33.28 and $30.79 for fixtures, 58 cents each for fluorescent tubes.

Van Atta Supply Co. of Marion, $36.65, including fixtures with fluorescent tubes.

R. L. Andrews of Marion, two bids, $39.90 and $31.25 for fixtures; 65 cents each for fluorescent tubes.

LIQUOR INQUIRY BOARD READIES PARTIAL REPORT

Believe List of 4 Recommendations Included.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 24—The special five-member committee which investigated the state liquor department readied a partial report for the Ohio senate today.

Recommendations were not made public in advance, but an authoritative source said they probably would call for:

(1) An enforcement division with trained personnel patterned after the state highway patrol and virtually free from political influence.

Published notice of required public hearings on all applications for new liquor permits.

(2) A five-member board of liquor control, instead of the present four, with one of them an attorney.

(3) Salaries of $10,000 a year for board members, who now draw $4,500 and for the liquor director, now paid $6,500.

(4) Pay boosts for liquor department employes and increased personnel.

6,000 Forest Trees And Shrubs To Be Planted in County

More than 6,000 forest trees and wildlife shrubs are being planted this week in the Marion county soil conservation district.

Farmers who are cooperating in the forestry and wildlife plantings are L. J. Douce of Claridon township, C. A. Price and Homer Kile of Tully township, Lewis A. Anderson, L. S. Smith and Paul Roszman of Grand township, Harold Yake and Joseph Miller of Richland township, and Perry Seiter of Pleasant township.

The forest trees include red and white pine, Norway spruce, black locust and tulip poplar species.

Escape cover and winter feed for birds and small game animals will be provided by the wildlife plantings, which include multiflora rose and bush honeysuckle.

The black locust seedlings are being used for gully planting to control erosion and to provide high-grade fence posts in 10 to 15 years.

All of the trees and shrubs have been made available to the Marion County district by the U. S. Soil Conservation Service.

While Marion county does not require a heavy tree planting program, there are many small areas that should be planted to trees, according to W. L. Williams, farm planner for the Marion county district. He also pointed out that protection of both the new and existing woodland from fire and livestock is necessary in developing a successful woodland on the farm.

Stassen Says G.O.P. Has Chance at Presidency

By The Associated Press

LONDON, April 24 — Harold E. Stassen, candidate for the Republican nomination for the presidency, said at a news conference today that his party has a good chance to name the next president.

It depends, Stassen told British journalists, on the manner in which Republican leaders now dominant in congress meet their responsibilities in the immediate future.

REBUILDING JOB BEGINS—Carpenters build board covers for windows and doors that were shattered in Texas City, Tex., during explosion April 16. Boards were used because of the shortage of necessary materials.

Labor Unions Fight Ohio Bill To Ban Public Employes' Strikes

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 24—Labor union representatives have voiced vigorous opposition to a bill under consideration by the Ohio senate judiciary committee to impose severe penalties on public employes who strike.

At a committee hearing on the bill last night Herbert S. Siens of Columbus, field representative of the CIO United Public Workers of America; Edward Dailey of Youngstown and George English of Toledo, both of the AFL Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, contended public workers had as much right to strike as industrial employes.

They asserted, however, such strikes were not against the government but against public officials who arbitrarily refused to negotiate grievances.

Committee Chairman Fred C. Reinera (R-Hamilton,) told Siens he disagreed with that stand and asked: "How can government function if citizens disobey?"

Bill Set Next Week

Nelson Watkins of Columbus, head of the Ohio Civil Service Employes association, said a bill would be introduced in the senate next week calling for creation of a board authorized to review grievances of public employes and to make findings.

The senate judiciary committee also heard proponents of a plan for judges' pensions. Robert T. Goldman of Cincinnati, representing the Ohio State Bar association, spoke in support of the measure.

Committee Member William Tyrell (R-Preble) asserted the program would provide some retired judges twice as much as the salaries of several jurists now on the bench. Goldman conceded the point and said judges should have salaries hiked to at least $6,000 a year.

The senate passed and sent to the house a bill allowing local subdivisions to accept 10 per cent of shelter rent from public housing projects in 11 cities, in lieu of taxes.

Sen. Ralph W. Winter (R-Medina), sponsor of the bill, estimated cities would receive about $300,000 annually from the 10 per cent collections.

Top Income $2,400

The measure also establishes $2,400 as the top annual income families may receive to be eligible to occupy low-rent housing units. The maximum now is lower but varies in various projects.

County budget commissions could set the eligible maximum income figure lower than $2,400 under the bill but could not exceed it. War veterans would be given preference in rental.

Sen. David M. Ferguson (R-Guernsey) contended housing projects were designed to benefit only families with incomes of about $1,000 annually and that the $2,400 top was "a complete fraud on the purpose for which the housing was intended.

"Families with up to $5,000 a year incomes now are living in the Zanesville housing project, he said in advocating a $1,500 top income for tenants.

Voting against the bill with Ferguson were Sens. E. E. Addison (R-Franklin), Albert L.

HAMILTONIAN NAMED OHIO BANKING BOSS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 24 — Paul A. Mitchell, executive vice president of the Citizens Savings Bank and Trust Company of Hamilton, was named Ohio banking superintendent today.

Mitchell succeeds Henry Earl Cook of Bucyrus, who several weeks ago was named by President Truman to the board of the federal deposit insurance corporation.

The announcement of the appointment was made by Gov. Thomas J. Herbert.

Mitchell served 11 years as bank examiner from 1929 to 1940, the last three years as chief examiner.

He resigned to become assistant cashier of the Hamilton bank.

The new state bank superintendent is 43, married, a World War II veteran with three years service.

Mitchell had a brilliant career in the European theater of operations during the war, serving as the financial planner of the American zone of occupied Germany.

The new bank superintendent laid down the regulations by which American military government officers ruled currency, banking and other financial matters in Europe and was the U. S. representative to the Allied control council dealing with German currency.

A native of Lima, O., Mitchell was graduated from Ohio State university.

3 Canadian Bank Robbers Get Away With $250,000 Loot

By The Associated Press

TORONTO, April 24 — Three robbers escaped last night with loot which a bank official said might total $250,000, after a daring robbery of a branch of the Royal Bank of Canada.

Clad in blue overalls, they bound and gagged the caretaker, his wife, his daughter and a visitor, after breaking into his third floor apartment in the bank building.

One robber was left there on guard. The others took keys from the caretaker, Duncan M. Stuart, entered the bank's safety deposit vault, and smashed open about 80 safety deposit boxes. They still were working when a friend of the Stuarts called at the apartment. He was seized and bound by the guard.

Three hours after the robbers left the caretaker's wife managed to free her bonds and summon police.

2,750 OPA Employes To Get Axe This Week

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 24 — OPA, its death date set officially for June 1, estimated today that about 2,750 employes will receive dismissal notices in the next week.

An executive order by President Truman fixed the windup date for OPA and its two companion agencies in the office of temporary controls—the civilian production administration and the office of war mobilization and reconversion.

Most of the functions of the three wartime agencies will be transferred to other government offices on May 4 under the presidential directive issued yesterday.

GIVEN REFUND OF $2,800,000

$100,000 Sent by Mine Leader to Strike Fund of NFTW.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 24 — John L. Lewis today got back $2,800,000 of a $3,500,000 contempt fine imposed against his United Mine Workers and promptly contributed $100,000 to striking telephone workers.

Less than an hour after federal District Judge T. Alan Goldsborough refunded the $2,800,000 UMW officials arrived at telephone strike headquarters with a check for the $100,000 to help support the 18-day old cross-country tieup.

"We are authorized by the president (Lewis of UMW) to deliver to the officers of the telephone workers, upon unanimous authorization of the international executive board, this check" • •," John T. Jones, a UMW board member, told C. W. Werkau, strike director for the national federation of the telephone workers.

Can Carry on Fight

Werkau thanked him and told him:

"With your help I know we will be able to carry the fight through to a successful conclusion."

Werkau said the money will be used to prosecute the strike and to pay for fuel, food, rent, and doctor bills for needy strikers.

In refunding the $2,800,000 to the UMW, Goldsborough added a warning that a preliminary injunction prohibiting the miners from striking against the government "is still in force and can be invoked at any time."

Goldsborough took the action after Assistant Attorney General John F. Sonnett had offered no objection from the government.

Sonnett told the court that it appears the partial "safety" stoppage in the government-held soft coal mines "has caused—will cause no real injury to the people of the United States."

Two weeks ago, Goldsborough had refused to grant the $2,800,000 refund because many mines were idle. He said then that UMW Chieftain John L. Lewis and the union had not showed they were acting in "good faith" in line with a supreme court mandate.

Goldsborough fined the union $3,500,000 and Lewis $10,000 for ignoring a restraining order and permitting the 17-day soft coal strike to begin Nov. 21.

U. S. Searches For New Formula To End Phone Tieup

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 24—The government today went after a new formula for settling the 18-day-old telephone strike amid reports that long distance lines have been sabotaged in at least 11 states.

The striking National Federation of Telephone Workers quickly accepted an invitation from Edgar L. Warren, federal conciliation director, to renewed bargaining talks with three strategic units in the Bell system.

The only immediate acceptance by the other side came from the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. The Western Electric Co. and the long lines division of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. said they would think it over.

Between them the three units employ about 93,000 of the 340,000 workers made idle by the union walkout April 7 to enforce new contract demands including a $12 a week pay hike.

Complaints by telephone company officials that lines have been cut were heard in Tennessee, Mississippi, Kentucky, California, South Carolina, Michigan, Wisconsin, Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas and Florida.

Rewards of $1,000 for the convictions of saboteurs were posted by companies in Milwaukee and Louisville and one of $500 in Columbia, S. C. In Detroit, union and company officials offered $500 each. The union said it "unequivocably condemns" such acts.

The government hoped to bring peace through the new negotiations by establishing a settlement wage pattern which might be acceptable for the entire chain of 29 Bell units.

SAYS HOSPITAL BARN BETTER THAN HOMES

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 24—Latest criticism of state hospital conditions held today that some of the dairy barns maintained by the Ohio welfare department appeared more "sanitary—by sight and smell—than some of the housing facilities" occupied by state wards.

State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood withheld comment after receiving the criticism in the fiscal survey of the Ohio expenditure council, a non-partisan, non-political research agency.

Sherwood said he wished to study the report which contended there was a waste of $7,000,000 in state and local government funds paid to undeserving persons on public assistance rolls.

The director's only remark was that the $7,000,000 estimate appeared to be "somebody's guess."

Karl R. Babb, chief of the division of aid for the aged, the only state-administered relief program, asserted that the survey was based on a 1942 investigation. Each of the state's present 120,000 old age pension cases now is checked annually to weed out undeserving persons, Babb added.

Anti-Smoking Rules Protested by Students

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 24—Capital university student petitions protesting anti-smoking rules for Trautman hall, the women's dormitory, and a new ban on use of the hall's lounge by male students were to be given today to Dr. Harold L. Yochum, university president.

The petitions resulted from a mass meeting of 300 students last night. Speakers at the meeting declared they were victims of "medieval authoritarinism and moth-eaten rules."

Dr. Yochum said that the ban on male studets frequenting Trautman hall's lounge was the result of recent property damage to furniture.

ZEPPELIN BUILDER TO WORK IN OHIO

By The Associated Press

LANDSHUT, Germany, April 24—Dr. Hugo Eckener, 72-year-old builder of airships, puffed contentedly on an American-gift cigar today and looked forward to directing new aviation experiments in Ohio.

"I am going to the United States for three or four months with the next shipment of German scientists from Landshut," he said.

"Whether I will stay longer depends on whether my wife, Johanna, who is 70, will be permitted to join me. We are too old to want to live separated."

The famous constructor of zeppelins rejected any suggestion that there could be a military implication in his forthcoming work with technicians of the Goodyear company.

"Who is interested in war is not interested in airships," he said. "All the Nazi leaders were uninterested in airships, because they wanted to prepare for war, and for war they needed planes.

"I am convinced that airships are more practical than planes because of their comfort and vast space. A traveler in a plane is going to get very tired after 20 hours, yet in an airship he can travel three weeks without getting tired," the aged but vigorous designer remarked.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

"As Homelike As a Barn"

Cy Hartman finally got his new barn painted, but plenty of folks had a hand in it. Whenever someone got a free day, or a little extra time, they'd come over and help out with paint and brush.

And Cy, to show his appreciation, held a big "barn warming" Saturday—for all the folks who'd helped him (but not barring those who couldn't). Ma Hartman supplied sandwiches, and Cy rolled out a mellow keg of beer.

You'd never think of a barn as "homelike." But with those lanterns hanging from the rafters; makeshift tables spread heavy with food; and Ed Carey's fiddle playing while the folks enjoyed their beer—Cy's barn was sure a mighty hospitable-looking place!

From where I sit, it's just about as appropriate to have a barn warming as a housewarming . . . if only because it's another chance to get neighbors together in a spirit of good fellowship.

Joe Marsh

LaRue Library To Hold Open House

Special to The Star

LARUE—Preliminary plans for the observance of open house and silver tea in May at the Henkle Memorial Library here were approved at a meeting of the Twentieth Century club Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. M. C. Clements. Open house is being held in observance of the completion of a new addition and other improvements. Further plans for the benefit of the library include a library tag day also to be held in May.

A general planning committee was appointed including Mrs. R. D. Henkle, chairman, with Mrs. J. W. Hoagland, Mrs. M. C. Clements and Mrs. J. J. McNeff, all members of the library board of directors. Other specific committees to be appointed by the chairman will include representatives from other clubs of the community.

The additional space for the library was provided when the mayor's office and council chambers were moved upstairs last fall and these two rooms were converted into library space. The new walls and shelving were only recently completed.

The club voted a donation of $5 to the county cancer research fund. An invitation was given to the group to attend a meeting of the LaRue Business Women's association at the school building April 29 when a book review will be given by Miss Margaret Huffman of Marion.

Devotions were given by the hostess. Papers were presented by Mrs. T. M. McElheny, Mrs. C. T. Guthery and Mrs. E. J. Hafer. A flower exchange was held. Mrs. R. D. Henkle will be hostess to the group April 29.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDESEN, M.D.

Sinusitis

Worry is a bad habit and one which more and more doctors are coming to regard as a real health hazard.

I have told you in earlier articles of the part worry is thought to play in causing stomach ulcers and now, Dr. Leland G. Hunnicutt of Pasadena, lists it along with other bad habits such as excessive smoking, abuse of alcoholic beverages, overeating and late hours, as a possible cause of chronic sinusitis. Any of these things may bring about congestion in the nose with a lowering of resistance and infection of the sinuses.

Other things which may bring about changes in the lining membrane of the nose and dispose toward sinus infection are lack of vitamins and minerals, as well as certain glandular disturbances.

Therefore Dr. Hunnicutt believes that the first step in treating the person with chronic sinusitis is a careful physical examination to see if any such factors are contributing to his condition.

In treating the infection itself care must be taken not to injure the tissues of the nose. In the normal nose there is a covering of mucus over the lining membrane. This is gradually pushed toward the opening of the nose by the action of hair-like structures called cilia.

In planning the treatment of chronic sinus infection, nothing must be done which will interfere with the normal cleansing action of the cilia. For example, medicines used must contain no irritating chemicals, nor should they be either too acid or too alkaline as this also may interfere with the ciliary action.

The symptoms of chronic sinus infection consist of a continued nasal discharge, sometimes headache, perhaps occasional slight fever and pain in the face. In order to make a definite diagnosis an X-ray examination is of help.

Dr. Hunnicutt says that before the examination of the nose is made the patient should go for a period of about four days without using any medicine in the nose and without blowing the nose. At the end of this time the lining membrane of the nose will have returned to normal in so far as is possible, and the doctor is better able to tell exactly what conditions are present.

In children, surgical treatment of chronic sinus infection is usually not employed. Rather, infected material may be sucked out with a suction pump and the nose washed gently with solutions of salt and soda. In adults, surgical treatment, such as straightening the nasal septum, may be employed to increase the drainage from the nose, to increase the air space and to get rid of damaged or diseased tissue. The use in the nose of sulfonamide drugs and penicillin as a rule is not of much value for chronic infections but helpful in the acute ones.

Let's Hope It Works

THE CONSENSUS is that prices are going to come down. President Truman's advisers have told him a trend will start in 60 to 90 days and continue into 1948, with principal commodities dropping 10 to 25 per cent.

Here's what President Truman's advisers say is in prospect: Food costs to drop 20 per cent, clothing costs 15 per cent, shoe prices 25 to 35 per cent, and building materials 25 per cent.

Everyone wants lower prices. No one has been heard speaking in defense of present living costs, although many reasons have been offered as to why they are so high. None of the reasons stands up very well under scrutiny. Prices and wages have been playing a little game of turnabout which is going to have to end sometime. Otherwise we shall enter the era of the $25 restaurant meal and the $1 loaf of bread.

The theory is that moral suasion and the law of supply and demand, working in tandem, should be able to bring about price reductions before further damage is done. By speaking out against present prices, the President and leading businessmen, who know a dangerous situation when they see one, hope to create a market of wary buyers. Sales fall off. The pressure eases for still further rounds of wage increases. Prices level off.

That's the way it works on paper and in the economist's mind. If that isn't the way it works in practice, the day is near when nickels, dimes and quarters will become as inconsequential in the monetary scheme as the penny is today.

Budget Surgery

OUTRAGED at the 47 per cent cut in funds ordered for the interior department, Secretary Krug says the house appropriations committee recommendation would wreck the department, cause a tremendous setback in the nation's economy and perhaps start a major depression.

The merits of Mr. Krug's loud complaint can't be evaluated by the casual observer, but the committee, which is screening the budget requests, knows that the way to reduce government expenditures is to reduce them, not extemporize and finally grant grudging increases.

No non-military government agency has grown faster in recent years than the interior department. In 1932 it spent $85,295,107. For 1948 it asks $295,420,320. The committee believes it can get along with $136,881,907 less. The principal cut will affect the reclamation bureau, yet Chairman Taber of the committee says the bureau will have $141,000,000 for 1948, including the carryover of unexpended balances.

One of the items cut from Interior's appropriation was $90,000 for the bureau of geographical names. It is the job of this office to catalog place names, foreign and domestic, and ascertain the correct spelling and pronunciation. Just to pick out one at random, is that bureau really necessary, Mr. Krug?

City of Brotherly Something

APPARENTLY, the Republican national committee is pleased with the prospect of nominating its next presidential candidate in Philadelphia. Perhaps there will be no Wendell L. Willkie this time to take the city, the convention and the Republican party by storm. Perhaps there will be no sudden, quick disappointments and long years of wandering in the wilderness. Perhaps everything will go the way it is supposed to go in nominating conventions. But until proof is forthcoming, the choice of Philadelphia will put the G.O.P. on the alert for anything, which is what happened to it the last time in the City of Brotherly something.

Moscow Fairy Tale

RADIO MOSCOW announces that 300 radio engineers will assemble May 7 to celebrate the 57th anniversary of the invention of the radio "by the famous Russian scientist, Popov. This will commemorate the first radio transmission ever made in any country," according to the broadcast.

What of the German, Henrich Hertz, who in benighted countries is credited with discovering the basic principle of wireless communication in 1888? Just a nationalistic opportunist.

What of Guglielmo Marconi, Sir Oliver Lodge and Dr. Lee De Forest, who usually are credited with considerable contributions to radio? Merely capitalistic deviationists.

What of Hans Christian Anderson? Well, he was the most proficient fairy-tale spinner of them all until Moscow's Marxist microphone mahouts came along.

Angle Overlooked in Threat of War Speech

WASHINGTON, April 24—The most important part of the Senator Malone speech predicting the Greek-Turk aid bill would lead to war, failed to reach the public eye in most press and radio accounts.

The freshman Republican senator from Nevada said he had found no military man who said Greece or Turkey could be defended against Russian attack for a week.

The genuine opposition in the senate to Mr. Truman's proposal is founded on this ground, and this opposition is much larger and more doubtful than the sprinkling of votes against the measure will indicate (early checking indicated only 15 votes against.) But many an aye will be spoken by senators who wonder sincerely if Greece and Turkey are the proper places where the line against Russian imperialism should be held. These senators would like to see a more defensible stand taken.

Indeed this Greek-Turk affair has caused more mental anguish among senators wrestling between their convictions and politics than any other issue so far, including the union reform bill. Malone is supposed to have called three distinguished citizens of his state on the telephone, for instance, and they advised him to go cautiously. This would have been easy because a freshman is supposed to be seen, but not conspicuously. Instead, he spent all day Sunday in his office, courageously writing out what he thought, rather than what might be considered advisable.

Experience Shared

The majority of the senators went through the same experience. Malone told an associate he decided to speak out because his constituents would soon find out the exact situation. He referred to some of the other senators privately as "hedgehogs," which is a new word in the political dictionary alluding to porkers afraid to jump the hedge.

His prophesy of probable war, however, was not necessarily substantiated by the surprising message from General Marshall the same day. Certain fast interpreters raced conclusively to the idea that Marshall considered the legislation indispensably urgent because he needed it for diplomatic effect at the Big Four ministers conference. Yet information generally circulated in the senate has suggested the Greek government is getting along fairly well with its military campaign against the Communist guerrillas.

As a matter of fact, Senator Vandenberg is supposed to have arranged to get the Marshall message to help the bill acquire the greatest possible senate majority for popular effect.

Neither of these circumstances suggests Malone's prophesy might swiftly become true. Communism and its purposes are rather generally understood now throughout the United States, although practically no sentiment exists for going to war against such an inferior system. The Commies and their fellow travelers (Republican Chairman Reese aptly calls them "Typhoid Marys," may want a war and may try to provoke one, but the overwhelmingly popular leadership of this nation merely wants to know what is going on in the world and to dilute its Communist infiltrers.

Marshall Record

A record showing how foolish the Communists are has been built up by Marshall in Moscow. He has shown they will hardly agree to what they agreed to before. When little or no trouble was expected with the Austrian treaty, it has met Communist objections which were not thought possible.

If war comes it would come from that source, by provocation or direct attack, neither of which could be formidable. (On this the military men also agree.)

Got a Special Friend? Give Him THE Brush

A Newark firm is marketing a shaving brush which sell for $3,350.

The price, the manufacturer graciously adds, includes tax.

A small discount is also available, one imagines, in case you want to purchase them in wholesale quantities for party favors.

According to its prospectus, the $3,350 brush boasts a 14-carat gold handle. The bristles, I take it, are from Joe Stalin's moustache.

Incidentally, how can anyone have the nerve, with shaving brushes selling for such prices, to talk about the danger of "impending" inflation?

I can remember when the only way you could have sold a shaving brush for $3.350 would have been to throw in a barber shop to house it.

It's all right, I guess, for those who have that much money and that little sense. But before I'll pay anything like that for a shaving brush, I'll buy a first baseman's mitt and join House of David.

The brush in question is especially designed, its sponsor says, for "the best-kept man." And anyone who buys it is surely in need of a keeper.

Greece Seen As Test of U. S.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

OUR difficult undertaking in Greece will not, I think, be likely to succeed if we let ourselves believe, as Miss Sarah Wambaugh puts it, that we are following "an old and established custom."

Miss Wambaugh was advisor to the chief of the United States mission to observe the Greek elections, and in that capacity she has written to "the New York Times" to say that we are doing nothing in Greece that has not often been done before—namely to grant credits and to send a military mission at the request of a friendly and legitimate government.

If this were to become the doctrine of the state department, the prospect of our making a good showing in Greece would be very poor. For what Miss Wambaugh has done is to treat the form as if it were the substance, assuming that because there is a legally elected government in Athens we can proceed as though it were a normal, effective government. Yet the whole internal difficulty in Greece turns on the fact that this government has been unable to govern effectively, that its authority is resisted, its laws unenforced, its administration chaotic and corrupt.

Confusion

Nothing could be more confusing to the American people and to the Americans who will have to go to Greece than to set up the fiction that this operation is like lending money and weapons to Great Britain, or the Netherlands, or to any other genuine and established government.

If we accept this fiction, we can never hope to get an honest and true answer to the first practical question which will confront us in Greece—what is to be our attitude toward the Greek government?

According to the fiction we should not and shall not intervene in "internal politics." But as a matter of fact there is now no possible way of not intervening in the internal politics of Greece. For we have undertaken to equip, train, and advise the Greek army while it is fighting a civil war.

How can that be done without making up our minds as to what we shall equip it for, train it for, and advise it to do? Are we going to equip it, train it, and advise it to fight this civil war to the bitter end? Or to arrange a negotiated settlement? Are we going to equip it, train it, and advise it to crush the opponents of the government, and to be the army of the monarchist reaction? Or are we going to train it, equip it, and compel it to be a national army, able and willing to guarantee the amnesty which a negotiated settlement would call for?

These are questions which have to be faced and decided firmly. To hide them with fictions and euphemisms would mean that we had, in the guise of self-righteous non-intervention, underwritten with a blank check a government which has failed in the elementary functions of a government.

Henceforth its acts will be our acts. Its performance will be our performance. We shall be judged by the people of Greece, and of the world, by what this government does. We had better take good care that it does not entangle and humiliate us.

It may at this moment be impossible at this distance to pick the men who ought to enter a reorganized Greek government. But what can be done here and now is to formulate the principles and to draw up the specifications which, as the condition of our support, we expect any Greek government to meet.

Objective

We can state clearly that our object is to end the civil war, not to fight it out to the bitter end in arbitrary arrests, concentration camps, executions, assassinations, massacres and the burning of villages. We can state that we shall guarantee a negotiated settlement and that the army we shall equip and train will be used, under our orders, to enforce the amnesty which will mark the end of the civil war.

We can state that we shall hold the government collectively, and its ministers and the officers of the army individually, accountable for the faithful observance of the settlement, and of the amnesty. We should insist on the resignation from the government of those notorious individuals whose record shows that they cannot be trusted to carry out this policy.

Orders Can Be Enforced

If, as may well be the case, it is not possible to replace these men with men who command general respect in Greece, it should not be impossible to find officers and civil servants who will, under clear instructions, carry out the elementary task of observing and enforcing the amnesty.

For only if and when the civil war is terminated, can we hope to begin to pass from mere relief to rehabilitation and reconstruction. A government fighting a civil war cannot, even if it had the competence and the will, rebuild anything.

As long as it is fighting the war, as long as we merely subsidize it to go on fighting, and refrain from "intervening," to end the fighting, Greece will be a rathole into which we shall pour not only money—that is the least of it—but our prestige and our good name, which are infinitely precious and are to be guarded jealously and fiercely.

"We now grasp the nettle of authority," said Ambassador Douglas in London on Tuesday. Let us then grasp with authority, and let us not enter Greece squeamishly, negatively, and a little furtively, but with that majesty and magnanimity which gives to authority its sanction and its validity. For there, with all the world watching, our ideals and professions will be put severely to the test.

They Were Soaked On a Fine Day

HAGERSTOWN, Md.—A well-dressed stranger rose in the city police court just as four convicted drunks were led to their cells in default of fines and stopped the procession with the announcement: "I am bailing out all the drunks today." Magistrate Harry Snyder beckoned the spectator to his office for an explanation, but later Snyder would give neither the stranger's name or reason. But the man shelled out 40 dollars and 80 cents, walking away with the comment, "I just wanted to help the boys out."

Baruch vs. Truman Plan

By RAYMOND MOLEY

PRESIDENT TRUMAN, advised by Edwin G. Nourse, economic expert, has prepared an attack on inflation by a voluntary lowering of prices. So far, the response has not been favorable. Prices are controlled by such a complex mechanism that voluntary reductions here and there are not only difficult but generally ineffective.

A far wiser judge of economic trends, Bernard Baruch, has pointed out another approach. He suggests that only increased production can stem the tide and that means be found to increase the work week ten per cent. The Baruch idea not only promises a larger flow of goods, but it offers profit to all concerned—workers, management and consumers.

Baruch Proposals

The Baruch proposal also increases the chances of success in offering the help to foreign countries which is involved in the Truman doctrine. Baruch has said over and over in the past that we should indulge in no grand plans of world-saving until we know what we have to give.

Such a consideration never seems to occur to politicians, diplomats and military men. The usual pattern has been followed in the new great adventure. Politicians and diplomats fail in negotiations. Military men make plans. And somehow, somewhere, manufacturers, farmers and distributors are expected to provide the means. That is how two wars have been fought. That is how the Truman Doctrine is being launched. Baruch suggests that we measure the gasoline and test the oil before we start the journey.

Baruch suggests an additional consideration of vital importance. We cannot produce more and more while we work less and less. A 44-hour week never hurt anybody. In this case, it means at least ten per cent more stuff to buy, use, lend and give away.

Facts Simple

The economic facts are simple. Commodity prices have gone up 40 per cent since V-J day. Wages have increased less than that. But what is most important is that there is no evidence to show that wage increases have produced, in proportion, more goods per hour of work. What we do know is that, since 1939, food and raw materials have gone up 100-300 per cent and wages have increased 70 per cent. But productivity per labor hour has gone up only about 20 per cent.

If we now remove many billions from our economy in money, goods and services, we simply cannot maintain our standard of living, unless we work more hours.

We are already witnessing further wage increases, with or without strikes. We are not meeting the demands for many lines of goods. It is silly to ask that automobiles be priced at lower levels, when there are not enough automobiles to meet the demand now. And it is, to use a New Deal word, "unrealistic" to ask for lower prices in manufactured goods while railroad rates and other charges are going up. Somebody must pay the freight.

President Truman would do well to put his influence behind the wise suggestion of Mr Baruch.

American Machine Startles France

By The Associated Press

CHERBOURG—A 30-ton machine, made in America and shipped to France for use in the Renault automobile factory, stumped engineers after they unloaded it from the ship.

The railroads were unable to transport it in one piece, and the engineers were afraid that bridges would break down under its weight if it were carried by truck.

Despite snow and ice on the road, however, the engineers had to chance it and using a captured German artillery transport and tractor they virtually inched their way to the capital. The bridges held up. The 220 mile trip took four days and a half to the factory gate, where a wheel broke under the machine's weight just as it arrived.

Then the Renault people found they didn't have a door big enough to bring the machine through and had to batter down a wall to get it installed.

Letters for Special Delivery

To the Newspaper Publishers and Editors of America In Convention in New York.

GENTS:

Welcome to Gotham. It is good to unroll the mat for some citizens who rate a little kindness even if it is shown them only once a year. This year you arrive on the heels of another one of those committee investigations of a free press with the usual blitzing of the American press, which as a whole is keeping its nose to the grindstone, doing a tough job with all it has, giving the public the only "full package for the money" left in this country and holding the fort for the traditions of the United States and for the American way.

* * *

Conventions are a dime a dozen in New York. They come in bunches. Zipper makers, plastic peanut shuck designers, sock salesmen, marmalade promoters, costume jewelry boosters, barnpaint agents and feather duster corporation directors are in convention here every day. Roll 'em all into one and you will find nothing they consider or do in any major way affects American life. But in the hands of the men and women behind the newspapers of America are issues affecting the lives of every American in one way or another.

* * *

Ours is not a perfect press, but is the best on the face of the earth. There are incompetents, tyrants, small timers, medicine men and ignoramuses in it, but they are few and far between. The publishers and editors of our newspapers are as whole as valiant, straight-shooting, rugged a American as can be found in any profession or business. If money was their main interest they would be in a softer line. My idea of a hero is a man who deliberately chooses to own and operate a newspaper under conditions prevailing for the last 25 years. And if he is still 60% sane he is a superman.

* * *

A newspaper owner is a man who sticks his neck out as a hobby.

He is a fellow who insists upon making a living the hard way. He is a glutton for punishment.

* * *

His life is as easy as that of a football dummy at mid-season football practice. It is as calm as a trip through an Indian tomahawking drill with your hat off.

* * *

It is as simple as the afternoon of a one-toed man on a greased pole.

* * *

His existence is as carefree as the life of a two-headed boy among the head-hunters. It offers all the security of a weekend on a revolving float. It presents emoluments somewhere in between those of a bingo game and an endowed delicatessen store in an Army camp.

* * *

Any man who can make a go of it, publishing a newspaper in these hectic days is a legitimate runner up to Aladdin. And in him there must be plenty of Napoleon. He needs the brain of an Einstein, the guts of a lion wrestler, the will power of a GI in a mine-field and the hide of Jumbo the Elepnant.

* * *

An editor is a fellow who might be a publisher if he hadn't been lucky.

* * *

He is a lad who has had sense enough not to be a flagpole sitter when there was a chair at the foot of the pole.

* * *

He is a newspaperman who doesn't mind a tough life, but is satisfied to let others worry about the high cost of white paper.

* * *

Take the editors and publishers together and they spell horse sense, honesty, ability, a consecration to what they think the best interests of their country, a belief in the American system, a red hot zeal for democracy and an ability to be happy even if not eating regularly.

* * *

They're all here in New York this week, going over their problems, swapping ideas for a better press and exchanging opinions of their prospects for going the next six months without nervous breakdowns.

Good luck to you. The city is yours. And if any college dean, paint house vice president, rubber horseshoe maker or class poet starts telling you how to run the newspaper business, use the right fork.

Sincerely
ELMER.

Have a Hobby

By TRUMAN TWILL

The conversation turned to hobbies. The other fellow said hobbies puzzled him. He knew people who seemed to get a lot of enjoyment fooling with photography, collecting guns, whittling, monkeying with lathes, hunting rare books and tracking down hard-to-find items.

He knew people whose lives seemed to be made brighter by spending money on pictures, Chinese furniture, obsolete automobiles, cutlery, elephant statues, postage stamps, signatures of notable persons and rare coins.

He recalled the people who made a hobby of digging up historic data about the Indians, flying airplanes, collecting dolls from all parts of the world, hill-billy music, head pieces used by various races, old party dresses, padlocks, footwear and native jewelry.

He also knew people, he went on to say, with a puzzled expression, who made life more bearable by picking up menus in restaurants, towels in hotels, ash trays in night clubs, chunks of rock from famous sightseeing spots, slivers of wood from famous houses and liquor glasses in saloons.

He supposed they, too, were yielding to the urge to ride a hobby, and the only difference was the thing they chose to do. Some people want to find out all about old architecture while others are more interested in rare old liqueurs. Some collect jokes, while others prefer to collect jokers.

A hobby, the other fellow pointed out, is an occupation or interest to which one gives his spare time, which raises the question of spare time. He said he knew people whose hobby was horses, and they became so interested in the horses they made a hobby of their jobs. Also people whose hobby was golf, and they spent their spare time earning a living.

People do all sorts of things for diversion, the other fellow went on to say, because they have time on their hands and feel the need of doing something with it. But he never had any time on his hands, and if he did have some he would clean the basement, repair some of the broken furniture around the place, or try to make his check book balance, none of which could qualify as a hobby.

So what, he wanted to know, was the reason everybody seemed to have a hobby, except him, and should he go to see a psychiatrist, maybe, to find out what was wrong? If the psychiatrist said he should have a hobby, what would be do because he didn't want a hobby? Hobbies were something he could take or let alone, and so far he had let them alone. Should he worry about this?

We told the other fellow we couldn't answer his question, because we had been hunting the answer too. Is there anything wrong with people who don't have hobbies? Or is there something wrong with people who do have them?

"Brainy" Husbands Best Marital Bet, Psychologist Says

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 24—Here's a tip from a psychologist to all brides-to-be: if you want a happy marriage take a husband who is just as intelligent as you are—or smarter.

Because, says Mrs. Clara C. Polley of the Family Health association, it's a little tough on the husband when the wife knows more answers than he does.

"The wife can make up for her lack of superior mentality in sweetness," Mrs. Polley said in a marital success lecture last night.

Forming her conclusions from a study of 526 married couples, Mrs. Polley also had this advice:

Marriages have better chances of working out when the bride's mother is living, but aren't so promising when the bridegroom's mother is around.

When "only children" marry, prospects aren't too good.

Uncertain and variable income works against blissful wedded life.

Long acquaintanceships—one to five years—hold better prospects than "love at first sight."

Children of happily married couples have a good chance of making their own marriages work out.

A comforting thought: Mrs. Polley says these conclusions, after all, are only statistics and there are exceptions to all sets of circumstances.

Cancer-Doomed Boy Pins Last Hopes On Diet of Raw Grapes

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O., April 24—A 15-year-old boy in the last stages of cancer ignored his physicians' pessimism today and staked a final, desperate hope of prolonging his life on 40 pounds of grapes.

Told by his doctors he had less than a month to live, young Niles Berry of neighboring Robertsville was counting on a book that claims a diet of raw drapes will cure cancer.

The grapes were flown here from New York through the help of the Junior Chamber of Commerce here and the American Cancer society in New York. Touched by the boy's plight, the Junior Chamber ordered the grapes after the local supply was exhausted.

Johnanna Brandt, a former missionary to South Africa, wrote "The Grape Cure" in which she claims to have cured herself on a grape diet and to have witnessed the cure of many others by that means.

His pelvis already infected, young Niles has grown perceptibly weaker in the last two weeks, and even after the grapes arrived his father, Lloyd Berry, had to guide the fruit to his lips.

Niles has only one arm, his right arm having been removed by surgery last November after he bruised his shoulder in an accident that later become seriously infected.

Cancer already has struck down two members of the Berry family: in February, his mother died of cancer of the spine, and five years ago, his paternal grandmother, Mrs. F. R. Berry of Robertsville, died of the same disease.

CITIES PUSHING AIR LINE PLEA

Congressmen Take Hand in Action for Ohio Towns, Including Marion.

Demands of more than a score of Ohio cities, including Marion, for feeder line service were presented to the civil aeronautics board today by their congressmen, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington.

Marion is seeking approval of applications of United Air Lines Inc. for service between Chicago and Akron and Eastern Air Lines Inc. for service between Cleveland and Louisville, Ky., with Marion as an intermediate stop on both lines.

Rep. Carson (R-Ohio) told a reporter that Vice Chairman Oswald Ryan expected a decision within 30 days.

The hearing was arranged at a meeting called by Rep. Jenkins (R-Ohio) to protest failure of the board to authorize local service to connect 23 cities with cross-country air lines at Cleveland, Cincinnati, Columbus and Toledo in Ohio and Huntington, W. Va.

Others Assist

Helping Carson and Jenkins in presenting the case today were Reps. McGregor, Lewis, Burke, Brehm, Griffiths (R), Huber and Kirwan (D). John Eckler, administrative assistant to Senator Bricker (R) also was there.

"I don't see how the board can escape the argument that Ohio is entitled to this feeder service which has been authorized in 32 other states," Carson said.

"We are not interested in which air line is authorized to provide the service. What we want is air transportation."

The group told the board there is no reason to deny Ohio's application on the grounds of economy. Feeder service in the state, they said, would be self-sustaining without any need for a federal subsidy for mail.

Among the cities seeking the service, six have populations in excess of 100,000; 12 have 30,000 plus, four have 20,000 plus, and others average 10,000.

Cities Asking Service

Among them in addition to Marion, are Steubenville, East Liverpool, Alliance, Canton, Wooster, Mansfield, Mt. Vernon, Newark, Zanesville, Cambridge, Lancaster, Chillicothe, Springfield, Middletown, Hamilton, Delaware, Tiffin, Sandusky, Lorain, Findlay, Lima and Piqua.

Carson said Ohio is particularly interested in getting east-west as well as north-south air service between its cities.

"The intrastate service would benefit at least 1,000,000 of Ohio's 7,000,000 people," Carson said. "It would help the cross-country lines by increasing their traffic at the major airline stops."

GUARD COMPANY MEMBERS RECEIVE PROMOTIONS

Eight Advancements Announced at Weekly Session at Armory.

Eight promotions were announced by Capt. Robert F. Melby at the Wednesday night meeting at the armory of Co. C, 166th Infantry, Ohio National Guard. They have been approved by Regimental headquarters in Columbus.

Snyder, pfc. to sergeant; Charles Murton, private to technician fourth grade.

Capt. Melby announced that the company now numbers 25 enlisted men and three officers, and that three recruits are undergoing entrance examinations. He also said that about 30 additional men will be needed before the company is eligible to attend summer camp at Camp Perry during two weeks in July.

Close order drill, instruction in military courtesy and first aid were directed by First Lts. Louis D. Snively and William M. Bogart.

C. of C. Group Plans Citywide Cleanup

Preliminary plans for a citywide cleanup in connection with a fire prevention campaign next month were discussed when members of the fire prevention committee of the Marion Chamber of Commerce met Wednesday afternoon in the Chamber offices on North State street.

Discussion was led by John F. Smith, committee chairman. The program calls for the elimination of rubbish and other fire hazards within the city. Definite plans will be drawn up at a future meeting.

Truman Hunts Way To "Unveto" Bill He Spurned by Error

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 24—The White House said today that President Truman't "mistake veto" will be "rectified" but that the method for undoing it is yet uncertain.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told a news conference:

"I don't think any great damage has been done.

"I don't know who made the mistake. Somebody's face is probably red."

The vetoed bill would have conferred special powers on counsel for the senate defense investigating committee and cleared the way for the President's good friend, former Democratic Senator Burton K. Wheeler, to take a job with the committee as special counsel.

Mr. Truman vetoed it yesterday. He said it was too broad and would give the special counsel some of the justice department's powers.

Then it developed that he was mistaken—that legislation of that nature has been passed many times. Once was when Mr. Truman was a senator and wanted for the defense committee, which for the defense committee, which now asked.

Ross made clear that Mr. Truman had simply acted on someone else's advice.

He said every bill goes through a routine before reaching the President and that in the case of the current one, "somewhere along the line somebody made a mistake—I don't really know how it happened."

When the mistake came to light, White House advisors cast about for some way in which the President could "unveto" the bill.

HERBERT SEES AID PROGRESS

Says Legislative Leaders Getting Closer Together on Help for Cities.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 24—Gov. Thomas J. Herbert said today legislative leaders 'are getting closer together' on a program of financial aid for local governments.

"There was a general air of hopefulness," he reported, at a conference of senators, representatives and top administration officials following a dinner at the executive mansion last night.

Herbert said conferees favored adding to the program a proposal to appropriate $2,250,000 annually to counties for matching money to care for tuberculosis patients. State subsidies would be $2.50 a day per patient.

Cost at $32,000,000

That would bring state cost of the local government program to nearly $32,000,000, the governor said. Local government receive $21,000,000 from the state last year from sales tax revenues.

Legislative leaders at a similar session with the governor last week virtually agreed to grant local governments $12,000,000 a year from sales taxes, $13,000,000 from levies on bank deposits and capital shares of financial institutions, and the state's $500,000 share of cigaret dealers' license fees.

Standing Pat

The executive said he was standing pat on his recommendation of $80,000,000 a year in school subsidies and suggested that the money be distributed on the basis of average daily attendance of pupils.

Cost of the Daniels-Cramer school bill has been estimated by sponsors at $88,0000,0000 a year but testimony at recent hearings set the total at more than $90,000,000.

The house education committee held its final public hearings on the bill last night and members said they would meet next week in executive session to act on the measure.

Chinese Reds Release 2 Yanks Held 2 Months

By The Associated Press

NANKING, April 24—Two U. S. army officers captured by Chinese Communists in Manchuria March 1 were released to an American field party in "good health" today.

The U. S. embassy said the two assistant military attaches, Major Robert Rigg, Chicago, and Capt. John W. Collins, Evanston, Ill., were released at 12:32 p. m. (11:32 p. m. EST, Wednesday), and reached Changchun five hours later.

Brig. Gen. Robert Soule, military attache who headed the field party, advised the embassy from Changchun that both men were in good health. No other details were given out.

A spokesman said Rigg and Collins, captured while observing a civil war battle near Chaungchun, probably would be flown to Nanking tomorrow to report to the embassy.

Oiler Reports On CIO Parley

Marion Man Attends Policy Meeting of Steel Workers in Pittsburgh.

Ellis Oiler, president of the Marion Industrial Union council and a member of the wage policy committee of the United Steel Workers, gave a report of proceedings of a wage policy committee meeting in Pittsburgh, Pa., March 19, 20 and 21 at a regular meeting of the Marion Industrial Union council Tuesday night. The meeting was held at 139 East Center street.

Mr. Oiler outlined the policies formulated by the international officers, executive board members and wage policy committee members concerning negotiations of contracts with various branches of the steel industry.

He spoke on the Taft and Hartley bills and said Lee Pressman, general counsel of the national CIO, explained the "labor crippling phases of the two anti-labor bills."

Mr. Oiler said, "If either of these two bills are enacted into law, then national unions will become useless for they would prevent the meeting together of two unions to discuss a program, while big business monopolies would be allowed to continue on a national scale to dominate our national economy, strengthen their grip on our living standards and place the American people under the yoke of Fascism."

Harold Townsend, chairman of the legislative committee, spoke on Executive Order 9835. He said this order pertaining to government employes, goes so far as to allow the former employer of a government worker to recommend the discharge of the employe from government service and place the brand "subversive" on the employe, although the order does not define the term "subversive."

The council voted to send a resolution to President Truman urging him to rescind the order.

Mr. Townsend is representing the Marion CIO council in Washington today and tomorrow. He was instructed by the council to urge senators from Ohio to vote against pending anti-labor bills.

The executive board recommended the appointment of John Mullins of Local 750, UAW, as chairman of the Marion County Political Action committee. The board also recommended the appointment of Joseph Stafford of Local 750, UAW and F. L. Byers of Local 1949, USW, to serve on the committee. Gene Rogers of Local 3419, USW, was recommended to serve on the educational committee. The council voted to concur with all the recommendations.

"DEAR RUTH" PLAYS PALACE TOMORROW

Comedy Comes Here from Broadway Theater.

The comedy stage production, 'Dear Ruth," which is coming to Marion direct from the Henry Miller theater in New York City on a coast-to-coast tour, will be given Friday night at the Palace theater at 8:15. The doors of the theater will open at 7:15.

Tickets for the production, which must be reserved, are selling rapidly, George E. Planck announced today, and there will be tickets available at the box office tomorrow night. Mr. Planck requests that people arrive as early as possible as it is difficult to seat such a large audience in reserved seats in a short time.

"Dear Ruth," produced by the Civic Drama Guild of New York was cast in New York, and rehearsed, directed and produced under the personal supervision of Stanley Woolf, a veteran of the theater.

In writing "Dear Ruth," Norman Krasna, the author, had in mind a typical American family. The play opens with the Wilkins at their usual morning breakfast, very much unaware of the exciting day that is to follow. Into the quiet home come Albert Krummer, who is engaged to Ruth, and Lt. Seawright, who thinks he is, due to 60 letters written to him by Miriam, the younger member of the family, to keep up his morale. What he doesn't know is that Miriam signed Ruth's name to the letters instead of her own.

The entire cast is made up of Broadway actors with Audrey Swanson in the leading role of Ruth.

PRAYER AND ACTION NEEDED IN RELIGION

Rev. Faulkner Discusses Place of Both Before Class.

The place of prayer and of action in religion was discussed by Rev. R. W. Faulkner of Calvary Evangelical church at the Wednesday Noon Bible Class at the Y. M. C. A.

His talk, entitled "Asking and Action," emphasized the need of both approaches in effective living. God asks us to pray for what we need, he said, and many persons live far below the level which they might because they do not ask.

Rev. Faulkner traced the historical revivals of religion and pointed out the important role prayer played in them. Prayer can heal the sick, bring about conversion in the lives of others and stop the spread of Godlessness, he said.

But this generation demands action, he declared, and urged that Christians go into the world and bring about a return to religion, quoting Jesus, "As my Father hath sent Me; even so send I you."

Two Runaway Girls Sent to State School

Two Marion girls, 13 and 15 years old, were given indeterminate sentences in the Girls' Industrial school at Delaware yesterday when they appeared before Juvenile Judge Oscar Gast on charges of running away from home.

The girls left their home Monday night and went by bus to Richwood, juvenile authorities said. They later returned to Marion but did not go to their homes and were not found until Tuesday night. Officials said both girls had been in juvenile court before on charges of running away from home and going to Dayton.

They were returned to the Marion county detention home following their hearing and probably will be taken to Delaware tomorrow.

Sinatra's Program To Be Dropped by Sponsor

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 24 — The option in Frank Sinatra's contract with P. Lorillard and Co. will not be renewed after his June 4 broadcast over the Columbia Broadcasting System, Lennin and Mitchell, advertising representative for the tobacco company, announced late yesterday.

A summer replacement will take over in June, and a new feature will be presented at the Wednesday night hour in the autumn, the agency said.

The discontinuance, the agency said, was due to an "unsatisfactory program rating for the price we were paying for the show." The five-year contract was renewable each spring under a 30-week option clause.

AFL ASKS EQUAL EDUCATION CHANCE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 24—The American Federation of Labor declared today the federal government is "morally bound" to help equalize educational opportunities among the states.

Commending proposed legislation which would provide for grants to the states to help support their school systems, AFL Vice President Matthew Woll said in a statement prepared for a senate subcommittee:

"The American Federation of Labor believes that a billion dollars is the minimum sum which can begin to meet our country's need for proper educational growth.

"We urge that less sentimentality be expended on our devotion to America's public school system and American youth, and that more money be spent for this purpose."

Woll said federal funds should be provided immediately to (1) supplement teachers' salaries, (2) give every child the services which are essential to his health, welfare and social well-being as well as his mental capacities and (3) provide for scholarships.

At least $500,000,000 a year should be provided to supplement teachers' salaries, the AFL executive said, and it should be divided according to a formula set up in a bill sponsored by Senator Taft (R-Ohio), and seven of his colleagues.

The house also approved measures to exempt policemen from personal liability in automobile accidents while performing duties, except in cases of willful negligence, and to tighten regulations for real estate brokers and salesmen.

New Method Of Cancer Detection Tried at Cleveland

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 24—Physicians at university hospitals announced today they were introducing a new method of cancer detection on an experimental basis.

Should the method work out, said Dr. Robert H. Bishop Jr., director, some physicians believe it will result in earlier detection of the disease than is possible under the generally accepted technique.

The new system doctors explained, is based on a study of body secretions for cells shed from cancers. Thus, a malignant organ might be detected in its early stages if the liquid secreted in the tissue discloses cells of the cancer.

Under the established method, a small part of the growth is removed surgically, dried and stained, then studied microscopically for diseased cells.

In charge of the university hospital project will be Dr. George M. Wilcoxon, native of Alliance, O., and a physician from the University of Chicago.

Dr. Wilcoxon studied with George N. Papanicolaou, professor of anatomy at Cornell university and a leading propoent of the so-called smear method of cancer diagnosis.

A flight surgeon during the war, Dr. Wilcoxon narrowed his field to gynecology after his discharge with an emphasis on cancer. He told a reporter hundreds of technicians should be trained in the new technique so that it could be made a tool for a country-wide preventive program.

Ashtabula Man Held In Lake County Killing

By The Associated Press

PAINESVILLE, O., April 24 — A man held in Ashtabula was the center of attention today as Lake county authorities probed the fatal slashing and bludgeoning of Anton Heineman, 68, in his Perry township farm home.

Ashtabula police were holding the man as a vagrant, and said he had been arrested in nearby Saybrook Monday afternoon. Lake County Prosecutor Lester W. Donaldson asked that the prisoner be detained for questioning.

Still missing was the knife or other sharp instrument with which Heineman was slashed in the throat, chin and chest.

UNION TACTICS SEEN THREATENING PAPERS

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 24—The special standing committee of the American Newspaper Publishers association reported today that a "slow but constant standardization of union contracts is producing an alarming situation" in the news publishing field.

The committee reported to the 61st annual convention that there were fewer strikes against newspapers last year than in 1945, but that "from the standpoint of loss sustained by the public, by employes and by publishers, 1946 presents a record more disastrous than the 1945 picture."

Reporting 204 strikes against newspapers since 1937, the committee said "arbitration could have saved all of those strike losses" and that "in none of those strikes did an ANPA newspaper refuse to arbitrate."

"If a revised national labor policy restores equality in local collective bargaining and thus encourages and accelerates the settlement of labor disputes, the change will be beneficial to the public welfare, and to employers and employes," the report continued.

"Any change in the laws that will equalize the position of employers and labor unions and be conducive to the peaceful settlement of labor disputes should be supported by publishers. * * *

"Developments in recent years call for a review of problems created by nation-wide bargaining programs of some newspaper unions which tend to nullify collective bargaining at the local level. * * *

"The real evil in this nationalized trend is that the local institution, the newspaper, is forced by federal laws and regulations to bargain on a national basis with a local union that demands adoption of the international laws of that union in the local contracts. * * *"

Messy Desks Don't Faze Boyle—He Loves 'Em

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK, April 24—My desk looks like a mare's nest in a city dump during a hurricane.

I like it that way. Other people don't. Somebody put a sign on my desk and propped it up against a coconut a friend sent me three months ago from Hawaii. The sign read:

"Langley Collyer Was Here."

This comparison to the late eccentric miser who piled up more than a hundred tons of rubbish in his Fifth avenue mansion is the most complimentary I have received.

Hal Boyle

Usually some anonymous coworker merely scrawls a peremptory demand:

"Clean up this desk immediately. It is driving me crazy."

Once somebody erected a small flagpole in the center of the debris. The flagpole bore a banner flying the single word: "Why?"

The thing that puzzles me is why anybody else cares if my desk looks like a Berlin rummage sale. Take that coconut, for example. At least twice a day someone comes by and asks, "When are you going to take it home?"

Others want to know, "What are you going to do with it?" Still others suggest darkly, "Somebody will steal it from you." That's silly. Police records never have listed a coconut stolen in Rockefeller center.

But if this campaign of nerves keeps up much longer I may begin to worry myself over what to do with the coconut. Until now I have just thought we would go on through life together until something came along to separate us. It makes a good paper weight. I am also considering a proposition from Tom Paprocki, the sports cartoonist, to bore a hole in it, pour in some raisins and sugar and cook us up a batch of coconut home brew.

We will drink it to toast the founding of a new international society called the "To-Limbo-With-All-People-Who-Try-To-Keep-Other-Taxpayers'-Desks-Clean Club."

Each club member will keep a coconut in his desk drawer—if there is room. It will be used to bash each and every office wayfarer who comes by and says:

"A cluttered up desk is the sign of a cluttered up mind."

Major Falsehood

For this machine age proverb is one of the major falsehoods of the industrial world with its watchword—efficiency.

I think it is more likely that "a clean desk is the sign of a fearful mind." When people are worried, nervous or afraid, they have to do things with their hands. So they tidy up their desk with busy fingers and put all their paper problems into folders and hide them away.

They then sit importantly at their spotless desks, frowning and drumming with restless fingers. But many of these people get ulcers because this "file and forget" philosophy doesn't work. You don't really put anything out of mind by just putting it out of sight. All you forget about the problem is what file you hid it in.

Answer Letters Occasionally

But a man of easy conscience and good digestion just lets the papers pile up on his desk. He ruminates well and doesn't jump into hasty decisions. Every day or so some of the letters get pushed off into his lap. By then he is ready to answer them with whatever sound and temperate wisdom he owns.

That was roughly the policy of William Allen White, who genially maintained throughout his long life a desk that would have been the anguish of an efficiency expert. Yet no newspaperman with a passion for office housekeeping has been able to turn out phrases like the Kansas word wizard.

The best chefs don't necessarily keep the cleanest kitchen. What advantage is there in keeping a desk top looking like a billiard table minus the cue ball? The only real excuse for cleaning off the litter is to make space for a man's feet so he can settle back in his chair for some real knotty thinking.

FOOD PRICES CALLED "PAST THEIR PEAK"

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 24—Clarence Francis, chairman of General Foods Corp., said today "it is our belief that food prices generally have reached or passed their peak" but emphasized that this was not a hard-and-fast prediction.

"There are uncertainties of weather, of world food supply, of consumer demand, of government policy, and of the policy of foreign producers," he explained.

"A hundred things can happen to drive prices down and a hundred things can happen to drive them up."

In a speech prepared for delivery before the stockholders' annual meeting, he said:

"I don't think we are in for a wide-open break in prices, but I believe you housewives in the audience know as well as I do that American consumer resistance is developing at the retail level.

"And I think the whole food industry is in for stiff competition—no matter how things appear at the moment."

Francis reported that for 1946 General Foods prices ran about 10 per cent above the 1945 average. During the first quarter of 1947, he added, prices on some products increased still further while others declined due to competition.

Disclosing the increase in prices of some raw materials used by the company, he mentioned the following percentage gains from March 25, 1946, to March 25, 1947: Wheat 54 per cent, corn 50, coffee 113, sugar 36, cocoa 220, rice 40, starch 23, raisins 40.

THE NATION TODAY

U. S. Pours Billions Into Relief For Civilians in Foreign Nations

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, April 24—This country has poured billions of dollars into civilian aid for other nations since World War II ended.

Since the fighting stopped in the summer of 1945 this government has okayed—or is getting ready to—about $15,560,700,000 in such aid.

This doesn't mean money, or goods worth money, just shoveled out. Some will be paid back. Some won't. Much we never expected to get back.

James Marlow

But that $15,560,700,000 means money spent, or money loaned, or money value of goods given, for civilian aid only.

It does not include military help, such as surplus United States military equipment. That would make the total billions of dollars higher.

The civilian relief figures given here were prepared by the government's budget bureau. They were made public by Senator Byrd, Virginia Democrat.

Loan To Britain

Here they are:

1. Loan to Britain—$3,750,000,000. This is to be repaid in 50 years. It is to help the British get back on their economic feet.

2. Direct assistance to civilians from military supplies—$842,000,000. This probably can be written off.

It included food, clothing and fuel from U. S. military supplies, mainly in Europe for civilians left in urgent need in the wake of armies.

3. Government relief in occupied areas—$1,450,000,000. We hope to get some back.

The money was spent out of war department funds for relief supplies in areas occupied by U. S. troops, such as Japan, Germany, Korea, Austria.

4 Export-import bank loans—$2,011,700,000 These loans are to be repaid within 30 years.

Government Agency

The bank is a government agency It makes loans to foreign countries to help build their trade and build things like steel mills which, in turn, will help our trade.

5. Surplus property transfer—$1,030,000,000. This is money owed us. We hope to collect.

It represents the sale value of government property abroad and sold abroad, but not military property like tanks.

If brought home, this kind of property would have been competing with surplus government property here or new civilian goods.

6. Lend-lease aid after the war—$1,848,000,000 We're expecting repayment of this money

It represents the value of lend-lease goods which we had sent to other countries and which they had on hand after the war, when lend-lease stopped.

Ship Sales—$107,000,000

7. Ship sales — $107,000,000. This is money owed us, or to be owed us, for ships sold to other countries, or authorized to be sold, by the U. S. maritime commission.

8 Aid to the Philippines—$695,000,000. Only $75,000,000 of this amount—a loan to stabilize Philippines currency—is to be repaid.

The rest includes the value of surplus property, war damage claims by Philippines civilians, and money for road repairs, and so on.

9. Aid through international organizations, such as UNRRA (the United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration) — $2,617,000,000

This was in the form of food, clothing, supplies and other things for devastated countries. Not to be repaid.

10. Postwar UNRRA relief (pending) — $350,000,000. With UNRRA itself folding up now, congress is getting ready to vote $350,000,000 for continued relief in selected countries.

International Bank Share

11. International bank—$635,000,000. We've put that much into the bank. It's our share. Other member-countries of the bank have put in their share

The bank was created to help nations, which joined the bank, to borrow money—to be repaid—for reconstruction and development.

12. International refugee organization (pending)—$75,000,000.

Congress now is considering voting that much money to help—as part of the United Nations' work—war refugees in displaced persons' camps.

13. Aid to Greece (pending)—$150,000,000

Congress is going to approve $400,000,000 aid for Greece and Turkey to stop Communism.

But only $150,000,000 of it will go for civilian relief. That will be in Greece. The other $250,000,000 will be for military aid to Greece and Turkey.

(We've also put $2,750,000,000 into the international monetary fund but budget bureau experts say of this

(It should not be considered money for civilian relief since it will be used to help stabilize other nation's money systems. It is to be repaid).

New Members Greeted By Mt. Olive Grange

Sycamore Resident To Mark 100th Birthday Anniversary

Special to The Star

SYCAMORE—Friday will mark the one hundredth birthday anniversary of Sycamore's oldest resident, Mrs. Margaret Walton. A celebration is planned at her cozy home in the southwest part of town with the members of her family meeting for a potluck dinner. Among thoses expected are her four living children with their wives and husbands. They are Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Oxander of Nova, O., Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Volkmer of Fostoria, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Walton of Akron and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Walton of Sycamore.

She raised from infancy a granddaughter, Mrs. Carol Harvey of Rochester, Ind., who is at her grandmother's home helping to prepare for the party. Also expected to be present are most of her 10 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchidiren.

Miss Rene Renbek, Mrs. Ruth Carter and son of New York City and Mr. and Mrs. Landsberg of Hamburg, N. Y., are traveling here by paine to be with their grandmother.

In order not to interfere with the family reunion the community chose Saturday for an open-house birthday party at the Methodist church. From 2 until 4:30 she will greet old friends and they will be served refreshments.

Presiding at the table will be Mrs. U. Z. Wickham, president of Mrs. Walton's Sunday school class and Mrs. Herbert Leadenham. The huge birthday cake will be cut by two of her nieces, Mrs. Ray Walton and Mrs. George Sigler.

Mrs. Walton was born Margaret Wiltse on April 25, 1847, about five miles east of Sycamore. The town itself was at that time only five years old. The first houses were built in 1842 in what is now Old Town.

Mrs. Walton's ancestors came from Holland in the Sixteenth century and with some apology she stated that during the Revolutionary war they were Tories and fled to Canada for their safety. Later they came to Ohio. Her mother was one of the first school teachers in Crawford county.

In early womanhood she married William Walton who has been dead for nearly 20 years. Their life together was typical of the early pioneer. He was a farmer near Sycamore until he retired, except for a few years spent in Iowa. They traveled to that state in a covered wagon in 1871 but the dust and grasshoppers were too much for them and they returned to Ohio.

Mrs. Walton, who has no recipe for long life, is in fairly good health although her hearing and eyesight is somewhat impaired. She lived alone after the death of her husband until she was nearly 98 but now she requires some assistance.

When some one suggested an airplane ride for her, she said she thought it would be "real nice." Of all modern things she appreciates most her radio, which is a constant source of pleasure.

The Sycamore Mothers' Study club will make her an honorary member of their group in a short ceremony at her home Friday.

TRAUTMAN, YOUNG HERE FOR BASEBALL BANQUET TONIGHT

Fans Cheer As Big Bats Boom in Both Leagues

(Associated Press)

Major league fans are witnessing one of the greatest early season displays of home run hitting in years and the bigger bats are booming in the National league which is famed more for its finesse than its power.

Paced by shortstop Eddie Miller of Cincinnati, who has clouted five roundtrippers—tops in either either circuit—National leaguers have slammed 48 circuit drives, double their output at this stage of the 1946 campaign, while American league batters have hammered 26, one less than they had collected a year ago yesterday.

The biggest boom-boom of the American league season was heard in Briggs Stadium, Detroit, yesterday where the Bengals socked five homers including three in the eighth by Roy Cullenbine, Dick Wakefield and Hoot Evers, as the Tigers clawed the Chicago White Sox, 7-4.

The defeat, the Sox' first in five games, dropped them into a first place tie with the New York Yankees who blanked the Boston Red Sox 3-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Allie Reynolds at the Yankee Stadium.

Rugy York collected both hits off Reynolds — a seventh inning two-bagger and a ninth inning single. Catcher Aaron Robinson batted in two of the Yanks' runs with a single and homer off Dave Ferris.

Pirates Dump Cardinals

At Sportsman's Park, St. Louis, the first-place Pirates drubbed the tail-end Cardinals 8-5. Shortstop Billy Cox of the Bucs whacked Red Munger for a homer with the bases loaded in the second inning and Ed Basinski sewed up the decision with a two-run bleacher poke in the sixth. Rookie Chuck Diering of the Cards hit a homer in the second frame.

The Brooklyn Dodgers clipped the Philadelphia Phils, 5-2, at Ebbets Field behind the eight-hit elbowing of lefty Joe Hatten.

The Chicago Cubs and the Boston Braves moved into a third-place deadlock with the Phils by downing Cincinnati Reds and the New York Giants respectively.

Southpaw Johnny Schmitz turned back the Reds at Wrigley Field, 7-1 while Warren Spahn, although touched for 12 hits, set down the Giants, 5-1, at Boston.

In the remaining American league games, the Cleveland Indians trounced the St. Louis Browns, 10-4, and the Washington Senators, the only team in either league which hasn't hit for the circuit, nosed out the Philadelphia Athletics, 4-3.

Indians Break Out In Hitting Rash To Move Into 3rd

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 24 — Still running a temperature from their sudden, feverish outburst of batting ability, the third-place Cleveland Indians today opened a two day stand against the White Sox.

The Indians zoomed up to a .600 percentage yesterday by cleaning up the two-game home series with the St. Louis Browns, 10-4.

Don Black was Cleveland's pitching choice for today, going for his second win of the season against Johnny Rigney, also guning for No. 2.

Yesterday's soiree in Cleveland produced 18 hits — no less — by the Indians, a remarkable feat considering the rumor that Cleveland batters haven't enough strength at the plate to knock the dirt off a quart of gooseberries.

Manager Lou Boudreau and First Sacker Les Fleming accounted for two doubles and a single each, and Right Fielder Hal Peck smacked three singles, to lead the hit parade. Two more doubles came by way of Joe Gordon and Ken Keltner.

Red Embree, the right-hander, was the winning pitcher by virtue of eight innings of work. The Browns got eight hits off Embree, including a neat homer by Walt Judnich in the eighth, but St. Louis' three runs in the seventh were unearned.

The Indians collected 14 hits in the first six innings off a former teammate, Denny Galehouse, and added the others against Ellis Kinder in the seventh.

Top Executive, Immortal Pitcher on List of Guests

One of baseball's leading executive, George Trautman, and one of the games greatest pitchers, Cy Young, will attend the baseball banquet given for the Marion Cubs tonight at Hotel Harding at 6:30.

Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues, will be here as the chief speaker and Young will attend as a guest.

Annual Send-Off Affair

The banquet, which will be held in the ballroom of the hotel, is an annual affair designed to send the local diamond aggregation into the season, knowing Marion is behind them. The Cubs open their season at Lima Sunday afternoon.

Interest in the banquet has run high again this year as all tickets were gobbled up by baseball-hungary fans as soon as they went on sale.

It is sponsored by the Inter-Club council of Marion. Representatives from Kiwanis, Rotary, Lions, Y's Men, Exchange, and the Junior Chamber of Commerce form the council.

Gracely Master of Ceremonies

Harvey T. Gracely, president of the Marion Power Shovel Co, will act as master of ceremonies. The program will be opened with the singing of The Star Spangled Banner, and the invocation will be given by the Rev. Howard L. Olewiler of the First Presbyterian church.

Following the dinner, Mayor Harry L. Dowler will give a welcoming address and a response will be given by Judge W. Dexter Hazen, Marion club president.

Guests will be introduced.

Song Fest Planned

The floor will then be yielded to the featured speaker. Prior to the benediction all present will join in singing "Take Me Out To the Ball Game," a song almost as famous as the game itself. The benediction statement composed by the late H. Alfred Donithen, attorney and baseball fan, for last year's event.

A broadcast from the banquet is to be aired over WMRN between 6:30 and 6:45.

Veteran Red Pitcher To Make First 1947 Start.

By The Associated Press

ST. LOUIS, April 24 — The Cincinnati Reds reassembled their shattered defenses today as they took the field against the only team they have clipped twice—the last place St. Louis Cardinals.

Bucky Walters, veteran Redleg right-hander, will make his first start of the season and the Cardinals have called on Harry Brecheen.

The Reds' defensive play hit the low spot of the infant season yesterday as they committed four errors in taking a 7-1 lacing from the Chicago Cubs.

The Cubs scattered three errors behind Johnny Schmitz' eight-hit pitching, and one Cub boot resulted in the lone Cincinnati run in the eighth.

Three Cincinnati miscues occurred in the third round when Chicago banged out four safeties to move ahead 3-0. Redleg Eddie Erautt, strikeout king of the Pacific Coast league last year, was routed in the sixth by Chicago's second three-run outburst. With the bases loaded, he walked home a run before Clayton Lambert came to his rescue.

Fesler's Blast at South Boomerangs

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 24 — The blast which Ohio State grid mentor Wes Fesler fired at southern coaches and colleges a couple of weeks ago proved somewhat of a boomerang.

The new Buckeye football chief said agents from yon side of the Mason-Dixon line try to lure the top talent away from northern homes, that the southern schools paid the players, and that there were some doubts whether the pigskinners had to do much studying to get passing grades.

Several southern coaches and editors fired riht back, but the payoff came when Ed Danforth of the Atlanta Journal printed in his column a letter he said was received by a southeastern conference coach.

Letter Faithfully Reproduced

The letter, "faithfully reproduced — even to the spelling," as Danforth put it, follows:

"Dear Coach — To be very truthful with you I am uncurtain as to how to begin this letter.

"My name you probley see from the heading. I am now a student at Ohio State university. I have changed a little sence you last contacted me, when I was still in high school, back in 1943. Sence your staff last contacted me. I have played halfback on the Ohio State team in 1944, witch won the national championship, witch you probley remmember. And I also played in the East-West game in Calif., in 1945.

Wants To Change

"Well, coach this is really why I am writing this letter. I am interested in coming to your university, this of course if you are entersed in my comming down there.

* * *

"Sence coming out of the army the cost of living here in Columbus Ohio has gone up quite a bit. I think you now what I mean.

"I hope you will look into this matter as soon as passable and let me now, if you think we can get together on some kind of an arrangement."

Danforth said the letter was signed, but he did not use the youth's name in the column. The southern coach turned the player's offer down, the sports writer said.

Fesler Knows of It

Fesler, shown the letter, said he already knew about it. The Buck coach said the player, after learning the letter had reached the public prints, had voluntarily come to him to tell him the tale.

Fesler said the player thought a job obtained for him by the university did not pay enough, and he decided to "shop around" and see if he could do better.

"I told him to make up his mind pretty fast about what he was going to do," Fesler said. "But after reading that letter, if it was really faithfully reproduced, I don't see how he can pass university subjects and remain eligible."

In the meantime, Ohio is going through spring workouts minus its three top backs. Dean Sensanbaugher broke a couple of ribs in Tuesday's practice, Jerry Krall is out of school with a knee operation, and Bob Brugge is having his tonsils removed.

Marion Cubs Rally To Smash Newark 8 to 6 in Exhibition Game

Double Play with Bases Full In 9th, Ends Browns' Threat

Special to The Star

NEWARK, April 24—A snappy double play, Vito Tuterra to Aaron Gray to Boo Diedrick, with the bases filled snuffed out a Newark threat in the ninth inning here last night and enabled the Marion Cubs to claim an 8 to 6 victory over the Newark Browns in an exhibition game.

Dan Paszko, first man up for Newark in the ninth frame, drew a base on balls from John Tate, third Marion pitcher. Charley Hopkins singled to right. Marion's John Scavo fumbled the ball and Paszko went to third base and Hopkins scooted down to second.

Newark Here Friday

The Cubs will play another exhibition game with Newark tomorrow night at Lincoln park. The starting time is 8 p. m. Admission rates to this game will be the same as during the regular season. A grandstand admission entitles a person to sit in a box seat provided he shows up in time to get one, club officials said.

Jim Parker was called out on strikes, but Joe Randisi walked to load the bases. Bob Spressler then hit a sizzling roller to short and the Cubs engineered a double play to end the two hour and 50 minute struggle.

Both Ohio State league clubs played good baseball despite the fact neither has enjoyed much practice this spring. Several fine fielding plays were turned in by the Cubs and Browns.

Marion scored twice in the second. But the Browns came right back with two runs in their half to knot the count. The Cubs went ahead with a marker in the fourth on Manager Nelson Burbrink's double and Gray's single.

Marion made it 5 to 3 with a pair of runs in the seventh, two Newark errors paving the way for the tallies.

Newark pushed its way out in front in the bottom half of the frame with four runs off Bill Rosen. Charley Ross' home over the right field fence with one on featured the frame.

A Newark error, three bases on balls and a fielder's choice scored what proved to be the winning runs for Marion in the eighth.

CRIMINAL, NOT COP, CALLED RADIO HERO

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 24—Young people who listen to radio crime mysteries normally make the criminal the hero instead of the cop.

That's the complaint of James V. Bennett of the department of justice, an ardent foe of blood and thunder thrillers. He made his views known yesterday in a panel discussion on "Radio crime Mysteries and Juvenile Delinquency."

"The number of radio crime mysteries is on the increase," said Bennett, averring that 45 crime and mystery programs were on the radio at present.

Howard Barton, promotional head of station WTAM and one of the panel speakers, challeged Bennett's assertion that during the critical listening hours from 7 to 9 p. m. 21.9 per cent of the time was taken by crime programs.

"A very recent check made by us showed 1,810 programs broadcast by Cleveland's four radio stations," said Barton. "Of these only 51, or approximately three per cent, were crimes and mysteries."

BRICKER TO GIVE DINNER HONORING GOV. HERBERT

"Just Social," Is Word but Dopesters Scent Political News.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 24 — Senator Bricker (R-Ohio), completed arrangements today for a dinner honoring Governor Herbert tomorrow night.

Senator Taft and Ohio Republican house members and their wives were invited to the meeting at the Mayflower hotel.

There was nothing to indicate that politics would be discussed. One woman said privately that the Bricker dinner would be purely social.

It was recalled, however that a dinner given for the governor by Senator Taft several weeks ago developed political news that drew considerable attention.

Taft gave the dinner at his home. Word came from the meeting that those present agreed to support Taft as Ohio's favorite son candidate for the Republican presidential nomination in 1948.

G.O.P. DIGS IN FOR INTERIOR CUT BATTLE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 24 — Facing a threatened uprising in their own ranks, house Republican leaders dug in today to uphold an appropriations committee recommendation for a 47 per cent cut in interior department funds

But upwards of a score of western Republicans are dissatisfied with the proposed $83,234,600 slash in reclamation bureau funds Some are talking about joining with the Democrats in a drive to restore part of the money.

Some Democrats, too, want more than the $1,371 000 recommended by the committee for the Southwestern power administration They may line up with western GOP members in a fight to restore part of the $2,554,000 lopped off by the committee

Chairman Taber (R-NY) of the appropriations group indicated he would oppose any and all amendments He was joined in that stand by Rep Robert F. Jones (R-Ohio), chairman of the subcommittee which wrote the bill

However, Jones said he expects a stiff fight.

Funds for the reclamation bureau, vital to the political life of western representatives, and for the Southwestern power administration are part of the $156,538,513 approved by the committee for interior department operations during the fiscal year starting July 1

The department had requested a total of $295,420,420, almost half of it for the reclamation bureau.

A showdown in the house is not likely before late tomorrow, since all of today's session has been set aside for general debate.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

INTO my mind there flashed a possible solution of the problem of keeping from Noel in the morning the truth concerning Mary's condition, and I spoke quickly.

"Will you let me take that problem over, Philip?" I asked. "I may not be able to solve it, but it won't be for the lack of trying."

Relief came into his eyes, and he bowed low to me, in his ceremonious foreign fashion.

"If you can't solve it, no one can," he said extravagantly, and then he was gone, and my husband was looking at me with quizzical eyes.

"'Fear to tread,'" he said softly. "You can supply the first of the quotation yourself."

I wrinkled my nose at him, as Dr. Twitchell spoke to my father.

"Is there anything more you wish of me, here, Mr. Spencer?" he asked.

"Not a thing," my father replied. "I have given all of you every bit of available information on this problem. If you wish to proceed to your appointment with Dr. Barnard, go ahead by all means. I will meet you at the hideaway an hour and a half from now. I sincerely hope your young plastic surgeon will be with you."

"He isn't mine," Dr. Twitchell told him, smilingly, "but I'll do my best to deliver him to you."

"I'm counting on that," my father returned, and then the elderly physician left us.

A Touch of Mischief

When the door had closed behind him, I held up my hand in the fashion of a school pupil, and gave my father a pleading look which held a touch of the mischief I have learned he likes from me.

"May I speak now?" I asked meekly.

"If you don't talk too long," he said, but his indulgent smile redeemed the words.

"I won't," I promised. "I just wanted to ask a question of you."

"I am waiting to hear it," he said.

"When does Jack have to leave for this assignment? I mean, what is the last time he will see Katharine?"

"Six o'clock tomorrow morning," my father said, and I stiffened with resolution.

"Then, Jack," I said, "as soon as this conference is ended, Katharine is going to your apartment with you. Dr. Twitchell has said that Mary will sleep all night, and Dicky and I certainly can share the watches over her."

Made Father Smile

"Card from the Sick Bed Watchers' Union right in my pocket!" Dicky declared, with a cock of his eyebrows which made even my father smile.

"So," I finished, "I shall be delighted to see Katharine tomorrow morning, but I don't want to catch sight of her again tonight after she leaves here. Jack, can I depend on you to see that those orders are carried out."

"I'll ride herd on her," Jack said, and flashed a look at me which told me how grateful he was for these last hours alone with Katharine.

"Thank you, Father, for letting me interrupt," I said. "I hope you approve."

"Absolutely," he assured me.

Then he looked at his wrist watch.

"The half hour Phil gave Olsen to get those window bars over here is about up," he said.

"'By the pricking of my thumbs,'" Dicky quoted, nodding toward the door, and the next instant there came a knock, and when Dicky opened it, Mr. Olsen, the cheery, plumpish manager of the Lansfield, came in accompanied by two men bearing tools and steel rods.

"I thinght I would better come up myself," Mr. Olsen said, "to be sure that I understood what you wanted."

A Mental Note

I made a mental note to substitute "Mr. Veritzen," for the second personal pronoun Olsen mentioned, adding the comment that the Lansfield owner's demands certainly met with prompt and special response. Hotel managers do not often accompany workmen to their tasks.

My father looked at me.

"Will you aften dio this, Margaret?" he asked, and I rose and spoke to the manager.

"It's very simple, Mr. Olsen," I said. "We want iron bars—marauder-proof ones—put on every window in this suite, in my studio apartment on this floor, and on my husband's penthouse studio on the roof. He will show you the other apartments, I am sure, when you have finished with this one. If you will come with me now, I will show you the first room where you will put window bars."

The racoon was the original dunker—it washes or soaks its food before eating.
